

Single 'Central' Fire District is Proposed

Supervisors Get Report On Fire Consolidation

A far-reaching plan asking the consolidation of the central county's fire protection districts was submitted to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday by County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

The plan recommends the present fire districts of Bay Point, Mt. Diablo, Mt. View, Central, Lafayette, Orinda, Danville, western portions of Eastern, Briones and portions of Island be merged into one county fire protection district.

THE REPORT, prepared by Joseph Connery of the administrator's office, also recommends that one fire prevention code become effective throughout the county.

Connery, in his report which has been nearly a year in preparation, points out a 75 per cent tax rate would raise enough tax money to operate the consolidated district.

Present tax rates in the central county area are Mt. Diablo 74 cents per $100 of assessed valuation; Central, 89 cents per $100; Lafayette, .99 cents and Orinda, $1.05.

The report comments on "deficiencies" of the present organizations.

The present fire protection districts were organized in the main, during an earlier time of small population with large open areas between communities.

"During the last quarter century the county population has increased some 600 per cent, the isolated communities have grown together and the old district boundary lines have frequently become archaic.

"Population growth patterns ignore artificial boundary lines. City annexations further cut up and obliterate the neat patterns of the past. Yet few adjustments have been made in area of responsibility, often almost forgotten," the report contends.

THE REPORT indicates many residents are unaware of the fire district lines. Telephone operators, through no fault of their own, often cannot ascertain which district has responsibility for a reported fire, it continues.

"Delays are inevitable, especially where the general area is similar in character," the report charges.

In the large central area of the county (Orinda, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Alamo, Concord, Ygnacio and Clayton valleys) where the various older communities are becoming essentially one large homogeneous area, there are different levels of fire protection, fire taxes and fire insurance costs.

"A REASONABLE uniformity of fire protection and costs is desirable in this area where the aims and desires of citizens are toward a high level of public service at reasonable costs," the report recommends.

Noting the human element, the report states:

"Unrest is at a rather high level among the fire fighters of the various districts as pay and benefits differ, often sharply, from district to district. Men move fairly frequently to other fire districts at district headquarters and cost to the lower paying district."

The report charges small, multi-district fire protection is often "too costly, inefficient and un-manned."

THE ADMINISTRATOR in his presentation of the report to the supervisors explained except for elementary school districts there are more fire protection districts in the county than any other type of special district.

"The problems of coordination and uniform policy in the many special districts are troublesome to most local governments, but are especially pertinent in Contra Costa County due to its burgeoning population and growth," McBrien said.

Included in the list of 10 separate recommendations are points asking a consolidated central fire district reaching from Moraga, Danville, Port Chicago and West Pittsburg, to utilize the county communications center as the district's central dispatching agency with a common emergency telephone for the area.

IT RECOMMENDS the present fire district of Byron and Brentwood be merged into one county fire protection district with a paid fire chief and the present fire district of Crockett and Carquinez be merged into one county fire protection district.

Connery's report asks, where desirable, fire district boundaries be adjusted, widely if need be, to more "intelligent and workable" lines of demarcation.

The chief of the large central fire district be the ex officio county fire marshal and warden and the county consider maintenance and repair of all fire district rolling stock by county vehicle maintenance personnel are additional recommendations made by the administrator.

Commissioners of the East Contra Costa County Fire Protection District are asked by the administrator's office to consider feasibility of constructing a building on county rehabilitation center land in order to house centrally located district equipment and to obtain 24-hour radio communication service.

The administrator's recommendations conclude with the suggestion: "The board of supervisors utilize the vast and valuable experience of the present fire commissioners as a Fire Advisory Commission to the commissioners of the proposed consolidated district."

Copies of the report are available through the administrators office and will be sent to interested persons. Connery also commented the report would be placed in county branch libraries.

The report was prepared with the cooperation of fire chiefs, commissioners, fire fighters and volunteer firemen, Connery noted.

Administrator Paints Grim Finance Picture

County Administrator J. P. McBrien informed the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday in Martinez there is no justification for optimism regarding the county's financial status.

In a four page report presented to the supervisors, McBrien outlined the county's financial status and stated his office would determine "with greater precision anticipated revenues and expenditures of the county."

McBrien urged the supervisors "proceed with even greater fiscal caution during the remainder of this fiscal year."

The administrator predicted the carry over balance of funds may be greater than estimated if caution is exercised by the county. McBrien commented the county's budget estimates for the current fiscal year were "reasonably precise from present indications."

The county's property taxes were set at $16.7 million and McBrien estimated the county would collect within a short margin the estimated tax roll.

IN OTHER REVENUES, it was estimated the county would receive some $16.8 million, but McBrien explained, the county will receive an additional $220,000 through state and federal subventions.

McBrien opined the county's assessed valuation may increase by as much as $40 million. This increase would produce (based on the current tax rate) additional tax revenues of $915,000.

The administrator warned, however, as the situation now stands, increased property tax revenues (on current tax rate) plus increased revenues from other sources will not provide any substantial amount to cover salary increases or any expansion in the capital outlay program.

McBrien concluded his statements by looking into the crystal ball:

"The situation with which we will be confronted in preparing our budget for the next fiscal year looks pretty grim."

He spoke at the noon regular meeting of the chamber held Tuesday at Casa Orinda.

LEIBER, who presided over the meeting in the absence of John Ogden, chamber president, made his remarks after members heard Clarence E. Betz describe his recent trip to Sacramento.

Betz described a hearing concerning a request by the city of Palm Springs to issue revenue bonds.

The bonds would finance off-street parking, Betz said, and representatives of Palm Springs cited the experiences of Walnut Creek in attempts to do the same thing.

Betz said last-minute amendments to the request changed the intent of the original proposal. This was done "by merely shoving a piece of paper" at the committeemen and saying "just add this on while you're at it."

Betz concluded, "I just wanted you to know how things are done up there."

SAFETYWAY FILES FOR Land Use Permit

An application has been filed with the County Planning Commission by Safetyway Store, Inc., for a land use permit in Orinda's planned neighborhood business district.

The application will be heard by the County Board of Adjustment on April 29, said County Planning Director Thomas G. Heaton.

Final plans are far from complete for a new store, however, said Safetyway officials, adding that no details were available.

Plans call for a 16,200 square foot main building with three smaller shops totaling 10,500 square feet and a 149-place parking lot.

John and Virginia Snow own the land involved. It is bounded by Camino Sobrante, Camino Pablo and Orinda Way near the Orinda Village.

Danny Heart Surgery Set for June!

PINE GROVE STUDENTS work feverishly on an exhibit to be ready for Public Schools Week. Open House will be held at the school Wednesday starting at 7:30 p.m., when parents will visit classrooms and other facilities. Preparing the display are, left to right, Kerry Boster, Joan Diricks, Mike Thor and Steve Winburn.

A Boy May Live ...

(AN EDITORIAL)

That a little boy be given a chance to live Orindans have opened their hearts and purses with a generosity that makes one glad to be a member of the human race.

In these days of hustle and bustle—when people often appear to be determined to race through life without a thought for their fellow men—it is indeed touching and refreshing to see a community respond to a plea for aid.

It all started just last March 17—the day of St. Patrick—when residents along Danny's father's mail route decided to "take up a little collection" to help pay for much-needed surgery.

For, they learned, unless Danny had a rare operation performed on his heart he would die.

Looking around at their own happy, healthy youngsters and at their comfortable homes in a lovely community, these residents counted their blessings and pitched in to help a child have an opportunity to lead a normal life.

They wrote letters. They painted posters and placed coin collectors from Walnut Creek to Orinda.

They held meetings and rang doorbells. They did dozens of things from licking envelopes to passing the hat. All for Danny.

But they may have forgotten, themselves, that others sometimes take time out from the mad pace of everyday living, too.

For, far from "a little collection," the "Dollars for Danny" fund has almost reached the incredible sum of $10,000.

And now comes the news that everyone has been waiting for. Danny's operation will be performed in June!

This will gladden the hearts of all who participated in the campaign. To them goes the satisfaction of a job well-done. But it is more than the money that counts.

Deep down inside there is a glow that comes from knowing that Danny will have a chance. Just as you and I would like to have if we were in trouble.

This is more than community spirit. It is an act of faith. Faith in one's fellow man and in his essential compassion.

To Danny and his parents go our sincere wishes for a successful operation.

To the good people of Orinda—and their friends from far and wide—we say "well done."

ALL KINDS OF things are going on at Miramonte High School and most of them will be on display Monday when the annual Public Schools Week Open House is held. Here, sophomore Joan Eberhart and Jan Miller prepare a sculpturing project.

Dr. Schevill Talks to Del Rey Parents

Dr. Karl Schevill, Orinda School Board member and active participant in California educational fields, spoke to the Del Rey Parents Club Tuesday evening concerning the role and responsibilities of the school board member.

"The projected school enrollment in Orinda will be 6,800 students by 1965," Dr. Schevill said.

"IT IS VITALLY important that members of the board have good common sense, be capable of setting policy, and be able to think intelligently, without bias, on issues involved."

At the conclusion of his talk, Dr. Schevill was kept busy for 45 minutes answering questions from some of the 85 interested parents attending the meeting.

Mrs. Herbert Goranson, president of the group, introduced three of the candidates running for school board election to be held May 19.

DONALD MANUEL, Harry Clemons and Herbert Waterman told briefly of their backgrounds, interests and qualifications as prospective school board members.

The full agenda included election of officers for the Parents Club.

Those elected were Mrs. L. G. Patton, president; Mrs. Joseph Longacre Jr., vice president; Mrs. Roy Davies Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. William Cook, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Peter McCullough, treasurer.

Members present approved a recommendation to amend the by-laws, providing for a special representative to attend the school board meetings, rather than have this be the added responsibility of the civic affairs chairman.

Parents were reminded of Del Rey open house, Monday, April 27, and of the coming Country Fair, a fun day for all on Saturday, May 2.

Scouts Watch Judo Experts

Students from Prof. Ray Law's American Judo School displayed the art of judo and jujitsu at the 207 Cub Scout Pack Meeting held at Gloriaetta School Tuesday evening.

Sixteen-year-old John Congistre was master of ceremonies. He has the black belt instructor's degree and is an R.O.T.C. captain at Oakland Technical High School.

Kathy Copley and Rita Johnson of Walnut Creek showed how judo can be used for self-protection.

Eric and Bruce Neighbor and Bobby Weston who took part in the exhibition also are from Walnut Creek.

Pack 207 welcomed three new Bobcats, Rodney Price who joined Den 9, Anthony Thurston and Randy Andrada, who joined Den 3.

Debbie Condon Is Recovering

Debbie Condon, 5, of 10 Ivy Drive, is recovering from minor injuries received when she was struck by a car driven last week by John D. imper of 149 Ivy Drive.

Parents Phone Surgeon; Assured of Appointment

By JACK SEYMOUR

Little Danny Isola will have his much-needed heart operation "at the end of June," according to Mrs. Harold Engman, chairman of the "Dollars for Danny" fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Isola telephoned Dr. Thomas G. Baffes in Chicago this week and were assured that Danny's appointment will be during the last week in June.

Dr. Baffes is the noted surgeon at Children's Memorial Hospital who developed the rare operation which may correct Danny's congenital heart defect.

UNLESS DANNY has the surgery doctors say he will die. Danny's father is a postman. Orindans along his mail route started the "Dollars for Danny" fund when they learned of the little boy's plight.

Starting on March 17, residents and people from all over the county poured money into the fund until almost $10,000 has been realized for the little boy.

IN JUST a little over a month, contributions have come from civic organizations, individuals, and from as far east as Connecticut and even from Hawaii.

The money will be used for the operation, the surgeon's fee, post-operative care and expenses of his parents who must accompany the seven-and-one-half year old lad to Chicago.

THE MERCHANTS are ready with complete stocks and services. The rest is up to YOU. Don't miss these exciting Value Days.

Miramonte's 'Open House' To be Held Monday Night

Miramonte High School will observe Public Schools Week with Open House, Monday from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

James A. Lewis, Miramonte principal, said, "All parents are cordially invited to attend the open house, to meet the teachers and see what their children are accomplishing in their various classes."

A GENERAL business meeting will be held in the auditorium during which Mrs. John Flint, president of the Miramonte Parents Club, will welcome the parents, and Lewis will explain what demonstrations will be in various rooms.

After the short business meeting, the parents will proceed to

Television Center To Be Established Atop Mt. Diablo

An industrial communications center probably featuring closed television soon will be located on Mt. Diablo, it was learned late this week by The Sun.

The tip-off came when Lindsey H. Spight recently purchased a radio installation on the mountain.

Spight, 135 Camino Pablo, Orinda, organized a company to be known as the Diablo Communications Center, following purchase of a 250-foot tower and a two-story 20 by 40 concrete building.

The buildings and tower were listed under the name of TV Diablo, Inc. It was owned by Gannett Newspapers.

The installation was oult in 1946 by Leslie Hoffman of Hoffman Radio and TV. It was occupied by television station KOVR.

KOVR moved to Jackson Butte in Amador County in order to obtain an American Broadcasting Company franchise.

The building and tower represented an original investment of $140,000.

The transaction was handled by Cap Wineburger, prominent San Francisco attorney.

Spight, the founder of Blair Television, has his western headquarters in the Russ Building, San Francisco.

Blair TV is a leader in the time-selling field.

The deal was consummated by Spight following his return from a trip to Europe with his wife.

Proposed Fluorine Vote Bill Gets Chamber Okay

Support of S. B. 865 and opposition to S. B. 1463 was unanimously voted by the Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting held Tuesday at Casa Orinda.

S. B. 865 authorizes a water district to add fluorine to a public water supply only if the majority of voters of that district vote in favor of it.

S. B. 1463 prohibits adding anything to a water supply.

CHAMBER MEMBERS took the action after receiving a letter from the county dental association which outlined details of the proposed legislation. They followed the association's recommendations.

Irving "Bud" Leiber, chamber vice president, presided over the luncheon-meeting in the absence of John Ogden, president.

Appointed to a nominating committee to make recommendations for forthcoming elections were Merle Brown, Robert Waschmirth and Maynard Buehler.

THE NOMINATING committee will make its report at the chamber's May 5 meeting. Voting will be on May 16.

Chamber Secretary Clarence Betz reported on his recent trip to Sacramento in opposition to proposed legislation to consolidate fire districts. These are A.B. 919 and A.B. 920.

The chamber has gone on record against the two bills.

ON A MOTION by Brown, members voted to invite the Better Business Bureau to present the next program at the chamber if a new film is shown.

Most members have seen a current movie about the B.B.B.'s activities, Betz pointed out.

Whew, a Million Bucks! All for a Bowling Alley

A million-dollar bowling alley is in the making for Lafayette, according to recent reports received by The Sun.

It will be called Lafayette Lanes.

The information came in a conversation with Joe Johansen, an owner of the Happy Valley Inn.

When asked about the king-sized figure, Johansen said, "That's about it. About a million bucks."

A 2800-square-foot building is to be erected next to the Inn, Johansen said.

The building will take six months to complete. Ground-breaking ceremonies are scheduled for next week, he said.

Present plans, Johansen said, call for a 24-lane bowling alley. All alleys will be of latest-type construction, with automatic Brunswick pin setters.

Also to be set up in the new building are a cocktail lounge, a piano bar, a coffee shop, a nursery, and a banquet room.

The new alley will be incorporated under the name Lafayette Lanes, Inc.

Major stockholders are Johansen, George Glasgow, and A. Mortora.

All are from the Lafayette area.

Rheem School Dedication Ceremonies Set for Sunday

The new Donald Rheem School in Moraga will be dedicated Sunday—the eve of Public Schools Week.

Dr. Floyd Marchus, county superintendent of schools, will be principal speaker at the ceremonies which will begin at 1 p.m.

The school band will provide music. It will be directed by Carl Schwidhelm.

BOY AND GIRL scouts—Cubs and Brownies—will participate in a flag-raising ceremony.

The Rev. Allan Southwell of the Moraga Community Baptist Church will deliver the invocation.

Charles E. Toll, principal and superintendent of the school, will introduce Dr. Marchus.

Other speakers will be Robert Eoff, contractor and builder of the school and Jack Buchter, architect for the structure.

ALSO SCHEDULED to talk are board members Bernard Glasky, Don Falconer and Adin Wilson.

The Moraga Mothers Club will serve refreshments.

THE BUILDING has been occupied since January but dedication ceremonies were delayed until finishing touches were completed.

During Public Schools Week the school will hold "Open House" informally every day.

Parents are invited to visit classes and observe their children in action.

Blues Band, Quintet Will Blast at Barnyard Affair

Terpsichore at the "Barnyard Benefit" will be just like "Dancin' at the Savoy" with patrons enjoying two alternating jazz bands, Mrs. C. W. Brock, general chairman of the social event to benefit Orinda School May 9, said yesterday.

BOTH THE "Orinda Blues and Marching Society Band" and the "Ted Kay Quintet" will play for the dance, which will break with tradition this year by being held right at home in Orinda, under the stars at Phair's Lot and under the roof of Orinda Motors, Mrs. Brock said.

Leader of the "Ted Kay Quintet" is Jeff Neighbor, track-star student at Miramonte High and son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Neighbor of Orinda.

The hot combo will alternate with the popular beat of the blues of the professional marching society band.

SEVERAL FEATURED acts to be announced later will entertain during intermissions, and the "blues band" will star Orinda instrumentalists Dave Warren, Al Clement and John Holmgren.

Winking owls will peer from the lantern posts studding Phair's Lot, giant murals depicting zany country life will brighten the walls of the Orinda Motors.

Mounds of fireproofed, rather than new-mown hay, plus the cackling of live chickens will pervade the bucolic atmosphere planned by the decoration committee, Mrs. Brock said.

THE GENERAL chairman for the Orinda Parents' Club benefit which will buy library books and other needed items for the school announced that Mrs. Robert Thaman is refreshments chairman, Mrs. John Harbell, food chairman, and Mrs. Clinton De Witt, facilities chairman.

Tickets to the "Barnyard Benefit" at $3 per couple may be obtained now from ticket chairman Mrs. William Gilmore, 33 Acacia Drive, telephone CL 4-3149, or Mrs. Gordon French, 33 Stanton, CL 4-3478, or through the room mothers of each class at Orinda school.

CHECKS MAY be mailed to the ticket chairman, made out to the Orinda Parents' Club, and tickets will be mailed back in return.

As reservations will be limited, ticket requests will be honored on a first come, first served basis, Mrs. Brock said.

FAIR AND FOWL get together for a round up before the "Barnyard Benefit" dance May 9. The event will aid Orinda School. It is sponsored by the Parents Club. Here, with the aid of Dyke De Witt, 10, an Orinda School student, committee members make plans. Left to right, the humans are Mesdames John Harbell, Robert Thaman, Warren Delloff, William Marshall and C. W. Brock who is general chairman of the affair. Students Stimulated by Own Research Projects

"Students in the Adalanes High School science activity period for interested and able pupils are being stimulated by their own research projects," according to principal Stanley Walgren.

A special activity entered around research projects initiated and developed by the student himself, with the guidance of their instructor John Annis, is being conducted this year as a "pilot project" for developing advanced science education programs for all secondary schools in the Adalanes District: Las Lomas, Miramonte and the new Del Valle school in Tice Valley.

Typical of the type of learning project undertaken by students in the course is the research activity of Phil Condit, recent winner of the $750 Bay Region Engineering Week Scholarship.

With the help of his instructor, Phil has completed construction of a device to measure shock waves and the impact of electrical discharges "dumped in micro-seconds into an underwater tank."

The project tests materials for their properties and heat resistance.

St. Mary's Road Resurfacing Bid Let to de Silva

A contract for the resurfacing of St. Mary's Road was awarded today to Oliver de Silva, Inc. of San Leandro, who submitted a bid of $48,717.50, the lowest of nine bids received.

The engineer's estimate for the cost of the work is $56,780.

This project is one of the final bids of the County's 1952 Bond Issue program, and extends for a distance of 2.3 miles from Moraga Way to South Lucille Lane in Lafayette.

A short section, 0.45 mile in length near Rheem Boulevard, is not included since it is within the construction area of the slide repair project currently under contract.

The work will consist of rebuilding small failed sections of the pavement, resurfacing with three inches of plant-mixed surfacing and installing perforated pipe subdrains.

Traffic will be allowed to pass through the construction area with a minimum amount of inconvenience. The contractor will probably begin work within two weeks, and with 20 working days allowed, should complete the project by June 5.

The resurfacing will result in a considerable improvement in riding quality and reduction of maintenance cost.

C & H Sugar Closes as Strike Nears

The Crockett refinery of C & H Sugar began shutting down operations late yesterday afternoon.

According to a company spokesman, the plant will complete shutting down operations by tomorrow night to protect plant facilities in equipment in the face of the ILWU local 6 strike threat.

"Loading of raw sugar in Hawaii also has been stopped as a result of the threatened strike action. These actions are necessary despite the fact that there are indications that further meetings will be held with the union," he said.

"The company feels that further union wage demands are unreasonable in light of the generous company offer for a three year contract. C & H has offered the ILWU a total of 12 1/2 cents per hour for the first year of the contract.

"This 12 1/2 cents includes a 3 1/2 cent per hour increase effective February 1, 1959, in addition to 5 cents per hour granted last September as an interim increase in establishing the new February 1 contract termination date.

Boy Injured In Making Junk Rocket

Tom Hochheimer, 14, of 3172 Camino Coloradas, Lafayette, lost half his left hand Wednesday night when a home-made rocket exploded.

Hochheimer is the son of L. W. Hochheimer.

It was the third such incident in a week in the area, said Dr. Adolph Segal, who issued warnings to parents and youngsters of the dangers of using carbon dioxide cartridges in home rocket experiments.

Young Hochheimer underwent a 2-hour operation at Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek in an effort to save as much of the hand as possible.

He lost three fingers and his wrist is crippled.

The father said the cartridge exploded in Tom's hand while he was stuffing it with a head of matches before putting it in a pipe.

After loading, when fired from the pipe the cartridge makes a fair rocket and travels quite a distance.

County Fire Dept. Raps Moraga Poll

East Contra Costa Fire District commissioners held off setting a date to poll Moraga residents on an desired fire district status. However, it again will be considered in 30 days.

Supervisor Melvin F. Olsen of Lafayette suggested the straw vote. It would have determined whether householders want to pay a higher tax for metropolitan fire protection in a zone of the county's eastern district or annex to the Orinda Fire District.

Commissioners, however, had received petitions signed by more than 50 residents stating they absolutely are opposed to being annexed by either Orinda or Lafayette fire districts.

The petitions, still being circulated, said "we want to remain as we are until we can establish our own fire district."

They will be presented to the Board of Supervisors.

Robins & Roses

Spring has sprung, the breeze doth blow, take a ride & off we go. We don't know about you, but we LIKE that little citron yellow salt box of a house that stands practically on top of the road out Moraga Hwy. . . . reminds us of Connecticut or something.

WE LIKE, TOO, the sky-high rose tree that blooms to high heaven with huge roses on the right side of the road at Ardilla.

Tell us, Mr. Mott, Park man who lives on that street, is there some history to that huge gorgeous thing? EVERYWHERE the cantharus is a spectacular sight in hues of blues, lavender & purple.

Take a walk, or a ride, or a hike, even the bike & fill your self with our own Spring Garden Show running concurrently w/the one that salutes our two new states in the Oakland Auditorium. Where, tell me, is the wisteria so lush, lavender & weeping and could you find a garden more glamorous than the splash of azaleas & dogwood blooming along Camino Sobrante.

A Long Look At Lady Spring

WE KNOW it's Spring & we like to see the Greens-Keeper man w/his little dog at his side, sitting under the colored umbrella in his jaunty horse-drawn buggy. Looking like a pix from the SatEve Post & completely oblivious to the chase & race of the modern life around him.

The trees are leafy green & dancing with the wind. The boys are out hunting in the hedges for golf balls and the gals & their gams go by in shorts, off to golf or tennis, or maybe just to the store. It's a good town & we're glad it's Spring.

Residents Balk Planners

A group of "freshly disillusioned" residents of Reliez Valley urged the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors "to heed the wishes of the overwhelming majority of people instead of routinely spot zoning for alnd speculators."

In a prepared statement issued by Attorney Jackson Davis, representing at least a dozen Reliez Valley residents, the county planning commission was slapped on the wrist and then offered a plan to bring "better planning and zoning to the county's resident."

THE GROUP referred to the April 14 incident where some 75 per cent of the residents in the valley protested to a proposed rezoning submitted by Area Developer Jack Marchant.

Marchant seeks to develop the Marshall and Wollz properties consisting of some 19.6 acres from single family residential and transitional residential - agricultural district to single family residential district R-20.

The original request was for R-15, 15,000 square foot lots, but the planning commission recommended approval of the lots be at least R-20; 20,000 square foot lots.

THE RESIDENTS contend the area was zoned in 1949 for acre and a half lots and since that time conditions have not changed to "warrant a rezoning."

SEE EDITORIAL, EDITORIAL PAGE, SECOND SECTION.

"It was not disputed that there has not been any change of conditions in the valley since 1959, yet the Planning Commission arbitrarily approved the application, giving as its sole reason that the 1949 zoning was a 'mistake, that acre and half acre zoning is 'undescript' and that smaller parcels constitute 'better zoning,'" wrote Davis.

"Many of the residents of Reliez Valley bought and constructed their homes in reliance upon the existing zoning on the assumption that they thereby enjoy county and not tract living. Are not the residents of the area concerned better qualified and more entitled to decide their zoning than a small group of officials in Martinez?" he asks.

"At this same hearing, the Parkmead Improvement Association and some 447 residents of that area opposed an application to permit a zoning deviation at a particular site in that area. Despite this almost universal opposition by the residents in the area affected, the Planning Commission similarly voted approval.

"Even more intolerable was the attitude assumed by certain of the Planning Commissioners. It was apparent that most, if not all, of the commissioners had made up their minds before the hearing started, and paid only perfunctory attention to the facts presented. Only Commissioner Young gave the impression of a fair and impartial viewpoint," Davis charged.

"This complaint is not new; it has happened in every corner of the county. Residents of Happy Valley will recall that several years ago they voted four to one against rezoning in a plebiscite conducted by Supervisor Mel Nielsen.

"Despite this plebiscite and Supervisor Nielsen's best efforts, their wishes were ignored. To name a few other examples, what about the Pine Grove dispute in Orinda and the quarry problem in Redwood Canyon?" Davis noted.

"CONTRA COSTA County has been subjected to this arbitrary and autocratic procedure for many years. It is recognized that with the growth of the county a certain amount of rezoning is required from time to time.

"It is submitted, however, that the people of Richmond, Pittsburg, and other districts have no interest or concern in the zoning problems of Walnut Creek, Lafayette and Orinda. Pleasant Hill and vice versa, and that the residents of a particular district should have a much greater degree of control of their own zoning, as against the present non-democratic procedures which are weighted heavily in favor of tract developers and others whose primary interest is in personal gain," Davis continued.

"It cannot be denied that present zoning and rezoning procedures are unsatisfactory. Residents of Orinda, Lafayette, Pleasant Hill, Pacheco, and of the Walden area are contemplating incorporation to enable them to control their own zoning and to escape from the arbitrary dictates of Martinez officials.

"Incorporation for this purpose alone is cumbersome and costly, and is a reflection upon our supervisors that this should be necessary. It is submitted that each individual supervisor owes a duty to the voters to heed this discontent and to correct immediately the existing intolerable condition by a radical change of procedure," argued Davis.

"AS A STARTING point, the following concrete proposals are offered:

"1. That there be a prima facie presumption that the wishes of the majority of the residents of the area affected be respected and that the burden be upon the applicant to prove the desirability of the proposed change.

"2. That the applicant be compelled to establish that his proposal is warranted by substantial evidence of one of more of the following conditions: that there has been an appreciable change of conditions in the area since the original zoning; that buffer or transition areas are desirable; that adherence to existing zoning is impractical because of the geographical terrain; or that the surrounding residents favor or do not oppose the change.

"3. That in lieu of a single planning commission for the entire county, that there be a decentralization so as to have a smaller planning commission for each geographical unit within the county, possible co-terminus with each supervisorial district.

"4. That any appeal made from a Planning Commission shall be reviewed and ruled upon only by the supervisor of the district concerned and not by the entire Board of Supervisors as at present.

"SUPERVISORS are elected by districts; it is undemocratic and unfair that our zoning should be controlled by supervisors who are neither elected by us nor responsible to us. This will prevent the supervisor of the district in question from being outvoted by outsiders and will establish a direct line of responsibility between the voter and the supervisor as relates to zoning," Davis opined.

Davis concludes his statements by noting the residents offer the suggestions as a "practical means of returning control of area planning to the people of the area."

The letter is signed by two directors of the Reliez Valley Improvement Association, but not an official document of the group, Davis commented.

Reliez Valley Plan Described By Marchant

Jack Marchant, whose application for re-zoning a total of approximately 25 acres of Reliez Valley property was unanimously approved last week by the county planning commission, described to The Sun yesterday his plans for the area.

"There will be 46 lots, averaging 20,200 square feet," he said.

"OUT OF the total 46," he added, "we are asking for 18 exceptions but the average lot size will be 20,200 square feet."

"The planning commission has recommended approval of our application for R-20 zoning."

"R-20 is considered by professional planners to be a more desirable zoning than half-acre zoning," Marchant said.

The builder said that half-acre zoning permits lots of 100-foot average widths, while R-20 zoning requires 120-foot widths.

"HOWEVER, the average width of our sites are better than 130 feet," Marchant said.

"Lots which are roughly square are far more desirable than narrow, deep sites," he added.

"Most of the custom-built homes which we will construct on the property will cost around $37,000 or $38,000."

"THE PRICE range will be roughly from $33,000 to $43,000," he said.

Marchant said Marchant Development Company is contributing $300 an acre—a total of approximately $7500—to the county for improvement of surface water run-off conditions, plus further unstipulated funds to alleviate problems of properties adjacent to the development.

Commuters See Dump Truck Fire

Moraga firemen averted a serious fire Monday morning when they put out a fire creeping up a rubber supply line to diesel storage drums.

The fire broke out when a workman welding a part on a dump truck ignited the fuel supply of the truck.

Roy Turner, 2399 Pepper Drive, suffered a burn on the wrist when the fire started. Two others working at the Tunnel Rock Quarry were injured.

Supervisors Let Road Contracts

The board of supervisors Tuesday awarded a contract for the resurfacing of portions of Stone Valley and Green Valley Roads to Oliver de Silva, Inc., of San Leandro, who submitted a bid of $31,163, the lowest of 12 bids received.

This project is one of the final units of the county's 1952 bond issue program and extends from Austin Lane to Cameo Drive, a distance of 3.25 miles.

Localized pavement failures are to be repaired, and two inches of plant-mixed surfacing will be placed.

Central County Exclusion Resolutions Are Prepared

First steps for legal exclusion of Central Contra Costa from the Alameda Contra Costa Transit District were taken Tuesday by county supervisors in Martinez.

District Attorney John A. Nejedly was instructed by the board to prepare resolutions under the Waldie Bill, AB752, recently signed into law by the governor for the exclusion of the central county area.

MEANWHILE THE Walnut

Creek City Council approved its resolution for withdrawal Wednesday night and Concord, according to Anna Brown, city clerk, will take care of the resolution matter Monday night at the regular city council meeting.

Directors of the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District will meet Tuesday night to study the creation of a special service area and consider the purchase of Key System Lines in the greater Oakland area.

The unincorporated areas which would be excluded from the district include North Richmond, El Sobrante, Rollingwood and Parchester near San Pablo, Pleasant Hill, Lafayette, Orinda, Alamo, Danville and Ygnacio Valley between Concord and Walnut Creek.

Together with the two cities the area involves 15 per cent of the district's population.

The withdrawal, however, will have no effect on the transit district's service program. The district eliminated the areas from its immediate plans following defeat of a $16,900,000 bond issue last November.

"WE FEEL THAT the areas should remain in the district," but there's not very much we can do," said district General Manager John Worthington.

The transit board had proposed that the Contra Costa areas remain in the district and be subject to a tax rate limited to one per cent, but be excluded from the present from the special service zone the district expects to create under terms of the new law.

Orinda Letter Fails to Impress

A letter from the Orinda School Board got no official action, but raised much comment at this week's meeting of the Walnut Creek School District's Board of Trustees.

The letter was part of an Orinda inquiry sent to all school districts to determine how each board stood on unification. The Orinda Board evidently hopes to have the replies back in time for the unification meeting set for Acalanes High School April 29.

Orinda actually requested that the Board of Trustees write a letter requesting the county commission to produce a letter outlining the advantages of unification as compared to present structure.

"I DON'T know where Orinda's been all year," said one board member. "Truth of the matter is that Orinda has not been at the meetings."

Children's choir practice will be Wednesday at 4 p.m., the Youth choir at 7 p.m. and Chancel choir will meet Thursday at 7:45 p.m.

"Our study is not complete, I think their questions have been answered," said Alex D. Lindsay, board chairman.

"I personally feel we have all on unification we need, until the committees develop recommendations, whether it's for two, three, or five districts," Lindsay added.

All board members agreed they were going to continue unification study from the standpoint of the taxpayer.

A BONE of contention proved to be a past Acalanes meeting when Mrs. Frances C. Jensen acted as board spokesman.

"In the meeting at Acalanes we were the only group there stating that one of the board members speaks for all," said board member Mrs. Shirley Madison.

This, though, were reversed by the board.

"To take legal action, we must make resolutions. We did not make a resolution on how we stood on unification. We just had a general consensus of opinion that we were in favor of continued study of unification. We must have a resolution to be legal," said Lindsay.

SUCH A resolution will be forthcoming when studies are completed, the board indicated. The Orinda letter got no such action, however.

It was only answered. "Tell them our study is not complete, and we think their questions already have been answered," Lindsay said.

Attention Lapse Blamed for Most Traffic Wrecks

"Most motorists are capable drivers most of the time—it's the momentary lapse in attention and alertness that is usually responsible when these drivers get into trouble," declared Russel R. Magill, commander of the California Highway Patrol's Contra Costa area, today.

"We know that the great majority of traffic accidents result from a violation of the law. In most cases the violation was knowingly committed—the driver knew he was exceeding the posted speed limit, for example. But in other cases, the violation was unintentional, the result of a brief period of distraction from the business of driving caused by any one of several reasons. Even good drivers are liable to have these distractions unless they constantly guard against them."

Captain Magill noted that a skilled driver always drives defensively and thus is prepared to meet any emergency caused by another person's negligence or unlawful action.

Incorporation Petitions Go to County Supervisors

Petitions for incorporation of the town of Lafayette will be presented to the board of supervisors Tuesday.

The supervisors will call a public hearing after receipt of a deposit to pay for cost of publication of legal notices.

THE DEPOSIT—of several hundred dollars—will be paid by the Lafayette Improvement Association.

Yesterday, Jerry Tara, deputy county assessor, cleared the signatures of petitioners and certified them to be correct. He delivered the documents to Mary Smith of the county clerk's office at noon.

MISS SMITH promptly put the matter on the supervisor's agenda for Tuesday.

Publication of legal notices pertaining to the hearing must be made at least two weeks before the hearing is called.

THE SUPERVISORS must call for an election within 60 days after a public hearing.

More than 25 per cent of the Lafayette population, representing more than 25 per cent of the land value assessment signed the petitions.

If 51 per cent of the owners of the included land value protest incorporation at a public hearing, the election will not be held.

Grand Jury Gets Teacher Thanks For Comments

We are appreciative of that," said "The Grand Jury listened to us; Len Grote, president of the Diablo Valley Faculty Association.

"We feel that the Grand Jury's statement concerning the study contributes to the possibility of solving our problems. We particularly welcome the study's suggestion that the way to solution is through a committee established to review the recommendations of the State Personnel Standards Commission."

GROTE ADDED THAT, "Every one ought to have an opportunity to see the recommendations of the report. He said that a copy of the report will be sent to any one requesting it."

Respectfully, he addressed to the Diablo Valley College Faculty Association, Diablo Valley College.

Grote pointed out that a committee to review the recommendations of the report has already been formed.

Each faculty association has a committee.

The members from the Contra Costa College Faculty Association are Dora Jane Hunnicutt, Russell Stillwell, and Milton Vale.

THE DIABLO VALLEY College Association elected Grote, Wendell Johnson and John Porterfield.

The committee also included the district superintendent and assistant superintendent as well as the directors of both of the colleges.

The education committee of the Contra Costa County Grand Jury has ended its investigation of the dispute between the Contra Costa Junior College District Administration and the faculty of the district.

In a statement issued after meeting with both sides, the committee said "They (both sides) have the means by which they can solve their differences."

The differences between the two groups stem from a report of the California Teachers Association charging a breakdown in communication and morale of the district's personnel because of Superintendent Drummond McCunn's actions.

Board president George Gordon denounced the report as being undemocratic and un-American.

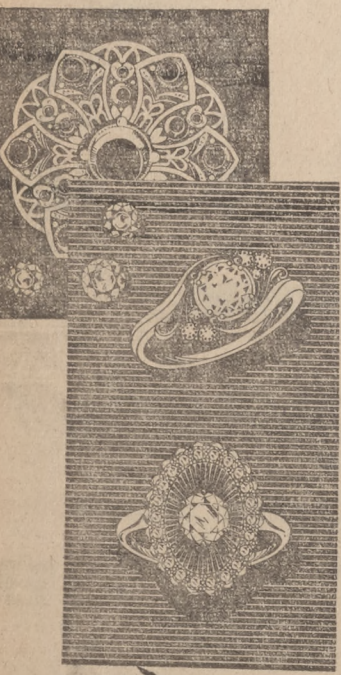

In turn the teachers group has slammed back at the board with charges of being "unreasonable and irrational."

The grand jury said a committee has been formed to work out a solution to the long-smoldering dispute.

"THE COMMITTEE was formed to review the recommendations in the report and it is hoped that it can lead to a solution of the problem," the jurors asserted.

"It is our understanding that the school administration and teacher groups are going to put the committee into operation and use the channels available to resolve their differences. We feel that this action will result in the solution of the problem," the jurors concluded.

CTA Denounces District Stand on College Report

The California Teachers Association labeled comments made by the Contra Costa Junior College District Administration concerning a personnel standards report as being "irresponsible and irrational."

Miss Miriam Spreng, acting chairman of the Personnel Standards Commission of the California Teachers Association, made a statement defending a report made on the Junior College District several weeks ago by the CTA group.

"Irresponsible comments aimed at discrediting the Personnel Standards Commission of the California Teachers Association and its report of a study in the Contra Costa Junior College District have made some clarifying statements imperative," she said.

"Far from being a 'new device' by which the teachers association seeks ultimately to control the thinking and expression of local school boards," the Commission has needed the ethics program of the Association for ten years, during which 63 major studies of critical problems have been completed. It has developed a national reputation for its objectivity and its willingness to assume responsibility for the conduct of Association members," she says.

"The Commission does not initiate studies, but considers requests from CTA chapters, governing boards, responsible citizens groups, or an individual publicly accused of unprofessional conduct."

"In most instances, requests stem from two or more of these sources but initial invitations in a majority of the 63 studies were issued by district governing boards. As stated in a foreword to the Contra Costa Junior College report, the Commission serves as a responsible agency to aid school personnel facing problems of friction and conflict to diagnose their difficulties and plan their future course of action in the interests of the children they are dedicated to serve," Miss Spreng noted.

"The Commission is not a court of law in which an accused person is tried and sentenced."

"It is the agency of a responsible profession through which problems are studied and recommendations offered. These recommendations may include proposals for punitive actions against members of the profession whose conduct is detrimental to the schools and the profession."

"The Commission does not impose these punitive sanctions—they are left to agencies of the association or the community where the accused again has full opportunity to defend himself with all the traditional safeguards of American jurisprudence."

"THE ATTORNEY-president of the junior college board is undoubtedly familiar with the difference between the procedures of a grand jury and those of the courtroom," the CTA spokesman argued.

"These procedures, and reason for their adoption, were explained to the teachers, administrators, and to four board members prior to the study."

"In fact, two CTA staff members spent nearly two hours discussing the procedures with the board president, at which time he concurred in the plan for conducting the study and offered his cooperation provided his testimony would not be given in an open hearing."

"He did meet with the panel and submitted helpful testimony, as did the superintendent. Since the Commission has no subpoena power, these appearances were voluntary," she asserted.

"HAD THE panel and Commission arrived at such an accurate analysis of the district's problems in 'four hours,' as the president stated, or 'two days,' as the superintendent declared, it should be commended."

"However the study began with a survey of staff opinion in November, the results of which were turned over to the Commission and confirmed by witnesses."

"Following the hearing, the panel assembled and analyzed the accumulated evidence and prepared its report."

"All district personnel were invited to appear before the panel, and none was denied a hearing. The superintendent and faculty leaders were invited to submit names of persons they felt could offer valid information, and special invitations were issued to these witnesses," Miss Spreng stated.

"The problem now rests with the community, and irrational condemnation of the Commission's report can only aggravate problems, while a positive and cooperative effort to resolve issues and remove irritants can contribute toward the continued progress of the colleges and the services they render to the communities of Contra Costa County," Miss Spreng concluded.

Studies show that exceeding the speed limit caused 12,770 deaths and 980,000 injuries during 1958 on our highways.

Automobile - bicycle collisions during 1958 injured 59,300 persons. Cars that did not have the right of way injured 608,400 killed 3,890 persons on U. S. Highways in 1958.

Been to School Lately? Well, Here's Your Chance!

How long has it been since you were in school?

We don't mean since you graduated from dear old Alma Mater, with many tears and a diploma. We mean, how long has it been since you were physically inside the school plant that serves your children?

Probably not very long. Most improvement associations meet at the local school, and there are always groups of one kind or another using the facilities. Chances are you have set foot in the multi-purpose room quite recently.

But this is not "school." This is just another convenient building. School, after all, is not a collection of windows and boards, but an idea. It is the institution which is responsible for molding your child's thinking processes.

IN THIS RESPECT it is the most important single institution in the community.

It is also the service which takes the biggest chunk out of your tax dollar. And for this reason, if for no other, it is a very important institution to you.

Many people have commented, "I don't have any kids in school, so why should I be interested?" The answer is, because you pay taxes too, and you should be interested.

All next week the various schools in your community will be holding "open house." It is public school week, and the welcome mat is out. We suggest that you look at the story in the front section of this issue of The Sun and attend the open house at the school that affects you most.

CHANCES ARE, if you have school-age children, you have made many "business" visits to the school. You have had to talk to counsellors, and work out your child's program, and you might belong to the PTA or parents club.

But these are really "business calls." The visit you make next week will not be a "business visit," but purely a social one. It will provide you with an opportunity to assess the value of the educational plant that is teaching your child, and the people who run it.

IT IS ANALAGOUS to visiting your next door neighbor. We all drop in for a cup of coffee or a chat from time to time, but sometimes we extend "special invitations."

For these occasions we really clean the house and shake out the rugs, and sometimes even put on a tie or cocktail dress.

Well, you are probably familiar with the school that serves you. But next week it will have its "party clothes" on, and you are extended a formal invitation.

The school system probably affects more individuals than any other service in the county... because it affects everybody except the person who rents and has no school-age children. But even this person probably sees a reflection of the cost of education in his rent bill.

So why not take an evening out next week and visit "your" school?

You might be surprised.
You might even learn something!

Some Zoning Suggestions.. From Residents..

Some recommendations to the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors came to the attention of The Sun this week, and they are worthy of serious consideration.

The recommendations are the outgrowth of the ubiquitous zoning problems that are to be found in every nook and cranny of Central Contra Costa County.

For the purposes of considering these recommendations, the particular zoning problem is not important. What appears to be important is the philosophy behind the recommendations.

These recommendations came from an independent group of residents who have obviously given the problem some serious thought. Here are the recommendations:

1. THAT THERE be a prima facie presumption that the wishes of the majority of the residents of the area affected be respected and that the burden be upon the applicant to prove the desirability of the proposed change.

2. That the applicant be compelled to establish that his proposal is warranted by substantial evidence of one or more of the following conditions:

That there has been an appreciable change of conditions in the area since the original zoning; that buffer or transition areas are desirable; that adherence to existing zoning is impractical because of the geographical terrain, or that the surrounding residents favor or do not oppose the change.

3. THAT IN LIEU of a single planning commission for the entire county, that there be a decentralization so as to have a smaller planning commission for each geographical unit within the county, possibly co-terminus with each supervisory district.

4. That any appeal made from a planning commission shall be reviewed and ruled upon only by the supervisor of the district concerned and not by the entire board of supervisors as at present.

Supervisors are elected by districts; it is undemocratic and unfair that our zoning should be controlled by supervisors who are neither elected by us nor responsible to us. This will prevent the supervisor of the district in question from being outvoted by outsiders and will establish a direct line of responsibility between the voter and the supervisor as relates to zoning.

AND THERE YOU have the recommendations. We do not know that any or all of them are practical, or even legal, but they do represent some serious thinking.

For the many residents who have been plagued with zoning problems during their residence in this county, there may be some possible solutions here.

Certainly the ideas are worth some serious thought.

The Staff Corner 'You are Commanded...' There Is Justice

By BOB RAPIDA
"You are therefore commanded forthwith to arrest the above named defendant..."

This is the direct order given to a law enforcement officer by the court prior to arresting a person suspected of a criminal or civil infraction against the public.

THE OFFICER is not requested, nor merely told to comply with the arrest order, but commanded by law to carry out the arrest.

This week, Deputy Sheriff Robert Barrett was given an arrest order. His job was to pick up an 81-year-old man on an inebriacy charge.

The actual names of the persons are unimportant. They know who they are as do the neighbors involved.

The specific details, likewise are unimportant, but here is what happened:

THE SON-IN-LAW of the elder citizen went to the district attorney's office and saw Doug Quinlin, deputy DA. The commitment order was drafted by Quinlin and signed by superior court Judge Hugh Donovan.

The court and DA complied with the son-in-law's complaint to the letter of the law. The complaint was sent to the Sheriff's Office and Barrett was ordered to arrest the man.

When Barrett arrived, he was in uniform and driving a sheriff's car, neighbors began to come over to the house where the old man lived.

One by one, they each attested to the fact that the old man was not a chronic drunkard but rather a kind old man who had never done anyone harm.

BARRETT HAD BEEN ordered to arrest the man. With this order he must comply, but also Barrett, as a career law enforcement officer, knew full well the law is a tool by which the public is defended, not a weapon of vindication and punishment.

He called the neighbors together. He called the district attorney's office, this time speaking with Deputy DA Mort Veale, and in turn the complaining son-in-law was called to the district attorney's office.

A somewhat cut and dry commitment arrest became a regular hearing in the DA's office.

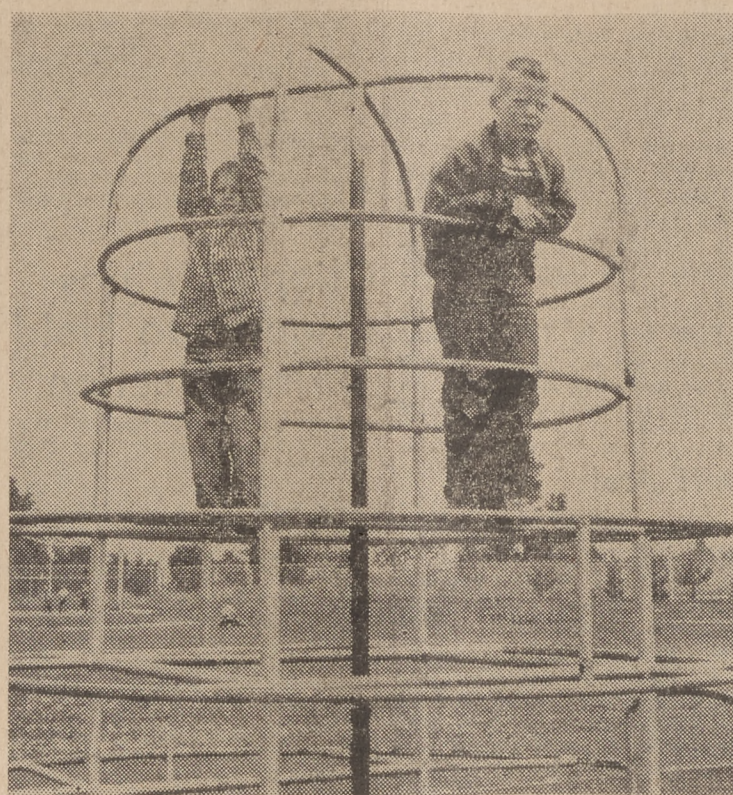

The end result was: The old man went back home. The neighbors went back with him and a fishing trip was planned for the weekend.

THE SON-IN-LAW was admonished by the judiciary and the deputy sheriff went back to his routine duty.

The duty of the young deputy sheriff is routine only inasmuch as the law is enforced through thoughtfulness, dedication to duty and a willingness to investigate each case to the absolute limit.

We Like It Here... What We Need Are More New Hats & Fewer Cats

HURRAY for the Doctors! They have decided that Mothers are Just Plain Tired.
Nothing more. Just Tired.

One psychiatrist said it's not so much the Moppets in the household. It is the members of the Animal Kingdom that dwell therein that add the real stress to the apron-string strain.

ONE LITTER of kittens, he figures, is equal to an additional one & a half child.

Like when you're stirring up the Pablum, weaning and mopping up after them. It's true, their OWN mother isn't much help, is she?

Hummm. Never considered our kitties in quite that same light before.

How about the Mothers whose youngsters have pet horses?

LIFT That Bale & Tote That Hay? Or let the poor horse starve all day.

The children forgot to feed the horse, of course. So out to you hillside, under the barbed wire fence, through the poison oak to the pasture trips Mom in her pointed pumps. Feeling like she had a head to match?

Duty done, conscience relieved, she can enjoy sowing her own oats. At least the filly has had its feed.

HOW about rats & rabbits... snakes & chickens? They count, too, says the Doc.

HEAVENS To Betsy! That makes most of the households WE know equivalent to those with a dozen offspring.

Makes us MORE tired just thinking about it. WHEN a man is tired, he stretches out for a snooze on the sofa.

When a lady is tired, that is the last thing she has in mind.

She would rather invite all the neighbors over for coffee. Or go out dancing. Or out to dinner.

MAYBE shop for a fancy new chapeau.

Oh, Dear! All this extra responsibility that is ours, MAYBE it's all in the mind, Dear Dr. Or the mood.

We are in the mood for a new hat.
We'll leave everything & go shopping. That is, as soon as we've stirred up the omelette, carried the carrots down to the rabbit. The rats are fresh out of cheese & crackers & My! how murky doth the dirty turtle water look.

The goldfish almost dropped down the drain the other day. Gave us quite a start. We ALMOST had a heart attack.

Personally, we prefer just being tired. No crises, please!

Large Crowds Expected At Diablo Open House

Diablo Valley College's annual Open House for the public has been changed this year from a Sunday event to one on a school day and night and is expected to attract hundreds of visitors today to the Golf Club Road campus.

High school seniors have special invitations from College Director Kark O. Drexel, transmitted through their school principals.

Among programmed activities will be a college student political science panel on the techniques of propaganda and a round-table discussion on educational planning.

A PRESENTATION by college counselor-instructors, headed by Dr. Charles E. Chapman, dean of student personnel, also is scheduled.

There also will be sports, musical, and drama events scheduled before and after a buffet supper for which guests will pay 75 cents.

Students on the propaganda study panel will include Armona McClurg of Pleasant Hill, chairman; Michael Wolverton, Lafayette; and Sheila Page, Walnut Creek.

EVALUATING their own education programs, and touching upon such matters as academic standards, curriculum, admissions, probation, transfer, and other problems, will be Elsie Har-

Letters to The Editor

A BIG HELP
Dear Editor:

On April 2 we transmitted to you a copy of a petition, signed by neighbors in this immediate vicinity regarding depredations to gardens and orchards by deer and requesting that action be taken, by the appropriate agency, to correct the situation.

It was expected that you would give some publicity in The Sun to this matter even if it was only a line or two.

You can imagine our surprise to find the fine article about this situation on the front page of the April 10 issue of The Orinda Sun.

Please accept our thanks for this splendid coverage of a matter of such concern to us.
WHITFORD S. KELLY
And neighbors.

TAXATION
Dear Editor:

Your editorials regarding taxation ignore the fact that Contra Costa County has large amounts of valuable land that is virtually untaxed.

The property tax is a tax on homes and other buildings and touches only lightly on land. A stiff land tax not only would raise needed revenue but would make land readily available for the hospitals, roads, etc., which you say we need.

Why do editors and politicians continue to ignore the land speculators? Why must we continue to have increasing taxes on homes and earned income, when unearned income from land manipulations is taxed at minimum rates? Could it be that editors and politicians do not know that there is a "land question" in the U.S.A.?

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT
Dear Editor:

My original intention was to make a passionate plea for support of the bill now pending in the State Legislature to abolish capital punishment.

I have found, however, in talking to people that it is futile to try to change anyone's mind, not on an issue so emotionally charged as this one—as my bruised head and bloody ears will attest.

Instead, I consider my time better spent writing to members of the legislature.

I urge all who have strong feelings on the matter to do likewise, and may the best side win.

Under The Sun Is Mom Ill, Maladjusted? No, She's Just Tired!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Ordinarily this column would never reprint an article from Time Magazine, since so many people read it. Last week, however, Time carried a gem and I cannot resist running it today, so that all you moms and dads will be sure to read it. Here goes, nothing left out:

Mothers who cannot get over "that tired feeling" and complain that their doctors are no help, won sympathy in an unexpected quarter last week. At an Atlantic City meeting of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, amid such topics as pelvic surgery and total body sodium, the Cleveland Clinic's Dr. Leonard Lovshin flashed a picture on the screen, explained: "We have here a tired mother. She is not sick—she is tired. She is not maladjusted—she is pooped."

A mothers' union?

Nothing could be more natural, says Internist Lovshin: "No psychoanalysis or deep probing is necessary. She has a work day of 16 hours, a work week of seven days. This is all against union regulations—no time in the sack. She probably hasn't had a real vacation in years, and she may have various worries about finances, husband and children.

Being conscientious, she gets involved in clubs, Brownies, P.T.A.s, heart drives, church work, hauling children, music, dancing." In addition to her children, she usually has animals to raise, and in wear and tear on mother "a puppy equals about one-and-a-half children, and a cat with kittens equals two."

How many children a woman makes makes little difference, Dr. Lovshin found. Most of his patients had only one or two. "A woman with one child just worries four times as much about the one as the woman with four children, and it all comes out even."

How old is she?

What does make a difference is age. None of his patients were under 20, but many were going on 40. "The nervous system can't take so much after 30, and two hours of screaming is bad enough at any age, but after 36 it is unbearable."

What to do? Many physicians, finding nothing organically wrong, tell such mothers: "It's all in your mind." That only increases their worries and frustrations. Others, said Dr. Lovshin, "get out their pills and potions and injections" and treat the women for complaints of the doctors' own imagining—anemia, low blood pressure, low metabolism.

Or, "we tell them they are not eating right, give them vitamins, and since no normal, active mother has any time to eat right, this catches them all." Some doctors become obsessed with a few pounds' overweight, or fancied excesses in coffee drinking or smoking, and deprive the patient of something she enjoys.

Dr. Lovshin's prescription: thorough examination to rule out physical illness, then explanation and reassurance with absolute truthfulness. Little things—a new hat, dining out, or going to a ball game—help in mild cases.

"A tranquilized mother would be about as good as a tranquilized Notre Dame football team," says Dr. Lovshin. "Who wants to live with a wet rag?" So he is against giving tranquilizers to tired mothers.

But he thinks there may be a place for tranquilizers in handling these cases: "Give them to the husband, children and puppies."

And that is the end of the gem.

Notes about fluoridation

A note, if you are interested in fluoridation: Next Wednesday the California Assembly Public Health Committee will hold a hearing on Assembly Bill 1463 which would prohibit fluoridation of public water supplies in California. This is one of those screwball bills. But why not write a note or post card to the Committee (State Capital, Sacramento, California)—urging that it be defeated in committee.

Last week a hearing was held on the State Senate bill "to permit" East Bay Municipal Utility District to hold an election on fluoridation. This bill was approved in committee.

And that is all.

Diablo Girl Scout Council To Make Like UN Boys

Anyone for flags?

You are? Then just attend the sixth annual Girl Scouts in Action program tomorrow at Acalanes High School. You'll see flags aplenty as the Mt. Diablo Girl Scout Council holds sway from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., with 85 troops participating.

THE OFFICIAL opening, however, won't be held until 1 p.m. Then come the flags, a Scout leader says, pointing out that there will be an international ceremony at which flags will be flown from 35 member nations of the World Federation of Girl Guides and Scouts.

The event is held yearly to inform the public of Girl Scout activities. It also is held to encourage girls as prospective members and to boost participation in Scout activities.

Among things to be seen will be life saving and water safety, plays, folk dancing, minstrel shows, folk dancing, minstrel shows, plays, folk dancing, fashion shows, minstrel shows, puppet shows, and the care of animals.

MANY BOOTHS also will be on hand for public interest, says the council.

Senior Girl Scouts are in charge of snacks and refreshments, which will be served all day.

Proceeds will go to senior activities. Baby care will be furnished by the girls.

There'll also be flags at the end when the closing ceremony is held at 5 p.m., presented by seven troops—with flags a-flyin'. The public is invited, say the Scouts.

Art League Costume Ball To Re-Create Rome of Old

Fountains playing in the midst of a topiary garden, Corinthian columns, and Roman figures in paper sculpture—these are but some of the beautiful and elaborate decorations to be viewed at "Romantica," the Art League costume ball to be held May 23 at Diablo Country Club.

The decorations committee, ably led by Mrs. A. E. Tartt, is busily engaged in creating the ancient Roman atmosphere, using black, gold, and white as the color scheme.

The tickets, designed by Mrs. Vernon Smith, cleverly repeat these colors, using Latin titles to describe the evening's program.

Dick Dildine's orchestra will play for dancing.

Following dinner, the guests' colorful costumes will be displayed in a Grand March.

Gordon Woods, director of the College of Fine Arts, San Francisco, will be the master of ceremonies, and the three judges, who will award prizes for the most creative and the most beautiful costumes, will be Robin Orr, society editor's

On The Lighter Side

By CONNIE KIENY

It hardly seems possible that an event as outstanding as the annual fashion show and luncheon put on by the Flicker unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center can get bigger and better each year.

However, those of us who have seen the "With You In View" show for then past five years witnessed a cleverly done show at Castwood Country Club April 7. Under the able chairmanship of Ginny (Mrs. Robert) Ramelli, the Flickers hosted some 600 guests with models from the various Therapy Center units promading in high style casual and dressy wear from the Clothes Horse.

Twelve junior models strutted their best in Tots n' Teens fashions. Young Johnny Olsen at the ripe old age of three made his modeling debut in a gray suit with matching Eaton cap. As always, young Michael Mozzetti was the show stopper in "Knee Divers."

You know what Knee Divers Are!

Those of you not acquainted with "Knee Divers"—just imagine the knee length swim suits of the late '20's with the broad horizontal stripes and put a six-year old extrovert in one, strolling down the ramp, winking and tipping his "crazy hat" at the ladies. Lafayette's Danny Van Allen did the commmentating honors.

Saw many long time friends and acquaintances. Looking as stylish as the models were Muriel Alexander, Lillian Palmer, Kay Anderson, Marion Ehlers, Gloria Petersen, Eileen Patrick, Louise Burk, Conni Goldeen, Janis Romak, Lorraine Olsen, Ruth Bell, Bev Curtis, Betty Caruso and Flicker president, Janet Lieber.

"April In Paris" will be moved to Carroll Ranch in Moraga this Sunday when Santa Maria branch of Providence Hospital Guild holds its spring benefit cocktail party. Mrs. Thomas Boler is the busy chairman being assisted by Ginny Larsen, Ginny Rarig, Renata Rigney, Pat Mercier and Ann Rarig. A Santa Maria branch party always means fun. We'll have more on it next week.

Alex and Lucille Morris are eagerly awaiting May 1 when daughter Janet, and her husband, Wick, arrive for a 10-day visit. Wick is attached to Air Force Intelligence in Arlington, Virginia.

Orinda seems to be alive with out-of-town guests. Mrs. Lester W. Chaney has been entertaining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Robertson from Rock Ridge, Illinois. From Los Angeles, Mrs. Celia Reichman and her granddaughter, Loren Reichman, have been visiting the Kenneth McCampbell family.

Everybody Seems to Be Leaving Town . . .

Leaving the Orinda area for short vacations were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Workman and son, Dale, who spent a spring vacation in southern California. Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Swanson enjoyed a few days at the Los Laurels Lodge in Carmel Valley. Orinda's Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker have just returned from a three weeks vacation in Chicago, Florida, New Orleans and Texas.

St. Perpetua's Women's Guild holds its final spring event on May 21. A Dutch auction will be held at the church hall in Lafayette. Chairman Nona Kruse has a day of fun planned for the many guests as well as many lovely prizes to be auctioned.

One that I would give my eye-tooth for is a beautiful hand-carved ship model done by a Lafayette resident. I plan to be there with my pockets full of dimes.

And We Offer Our Thanks, too!

Right now, on the behalf of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center I would like to extend a most-deserved thanks to Ina Bliesner. Because of her family responsibilities and the many, many community and charitable projects that consume her time, Ina will no longer be able to continue writing this column. For the past two years, Ina has faithfully come up with what we think is a top-notch society column. All the proceeds from this column have gone to the Therapy Center through the goodness of Ina and The Sun.

This generous contribution has done a great deal to help the Center administer its rehabilitation work for the physically handicapped. We wish that all of Ina's readers could meet her because a nicer person is pretty hard to find.

Next week this column will be written by Carol Hodges. Carol is president of the Cardinal unit of the Therapy Center and, coincidentally, lives on Carol Lane in Lafayette.

Golden Anniversary Is Celebrated by Oliphants

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Oliphant was celebrated with a reception at the home of their son and his wife in Orinda on Sunday. Seventy-five of their friends were present for the occasion.

Alvina and Hugh Oliphant were married in San Francisco on April 17, 1909.

Mrs. Oliphant is a native of Santa Fe, N. M., and came to California in 1903. Mr. Oliphant is a native of Indiana and came to this state in 1898.

Besides their son, Harry, and his wife, Agnes, they have two grandchildren, Cathy and Hugh. Hugh was not able to attend the celebration as he is now serving with the navy on the Destroyer Walke and at present is in Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Oliphant is a past matron of the Casimar Chapter of the Eastern Star in San Francisco.

Mr. Oliphant retired as president of Tay-Holbrook, Inc., San Francisco, in 1953, after having been with that firm for 50 years.

He is a past master of the Mt. Davidson Lodge of Masons and was a member of the group that established the first cross on Mt. Davidson for the Sunrise Easter Services.

He is an honorary director of the San Francisco Boys Club, and at present is a member of the Orinda Rotary Club where he has made many new friends.

Alvina and Hugh have been residing in Orinda since 1951.

A fairly new—but a very important member of the Oliphant household—is a little black furry dog affectionately called "Honey". Friends in Orinda know they can find her not far from either "Nana" or "Guv" as they are affectionately called by their family.

Fashions Vie With Blooms At Spring Garden Show

By MARIE MONAHAN

The senses and the soul are well satisfied with the grand spectacle that is the annual California Spring Garden Show which benefits Children's Hospital.

Friday night's fashionable throng attending the preview was so poshly decked out that festive frocks vied with fragrant flowers in the head-turning department. We wager that one woman, green-wigged and gowned in orange with a white stole, will be remembered long after the last rhododendron has borne its last bloom.

Preceding the show which this year salutes the two new states with a "Northern Lights and Southern Shadows" theme, members of the Women's Board of the Oakland Museum's Association entertained at cocktails and buffet supper in the ballroom of the auditorium.

Among the hostesses greeting guests in the formal room decorated with grecian urns and columns was Mrs. Timothy Colvin in a dramatic red satin cocktail coat. With the Colvins were the Ben Holabirds, also of Orinda, the foursome going on to Trader Vic's later.

At the Museum Dinner, the Robert Neuhauses (he's president of the board of directors) busy with introductions.

Mrs. Neuhaus' dinner dress of silk taffeta splashed with yellow roses. Among the junior hostesses, Sue Skaggs, daughter of the Dwight Skaggs who were weekending at Ojai.

Sharing dinner and show-talk were the senior Frank Fees and the W. L. Kilgus. Among the parties preceding the Fee's May departure for Europe will be one hosted by the James Sharps of Orinda.

Another foursome together were the junior Robert Daltons and the junior Les Hinks.

Petite Tony Dalton telling of plans to make a portion of their garden on Camino Don Miguel, an oriental one, from Happy Valley together at a table were the Robert Bridges and the R. P. Tolles. Mrs. Tolles' yellow chiffon with a VERY deep hem.

A short white lace frock was chosen by Mrs. Chauncey Pond, she and her husband among the long-time show sponsors. Dr. and Mrs. Woodburn Lamb and their daughter Freddie, a student at Head's, going the rounds of the first night flower-showing together.

Grouped together in the tropical tunnel, where banks of moss and fern were studied with cymbidium orchids and other exotic blooms were the Robert Omos of Lafayette who had gathered earlier at the Thomas Stacks' with the Jack Larsens, Jerry Kruses and Joseph Mikas.

Barbara Hornung of Orinda busy as her Providence Hospital branch chairman of the Champagne Bar. As crushed a crowd here as the grapes that went into the wine, but no one seemed to mind too much despite an occasional spill of champagne. With the Jack Hornungs were the Ben Singers, the William Foleys, the Walter Yeagers, all of Orinda.

Coming in from an early dinner party at the Orinda Country Club were the Rollin Moores, Jack Reillys, Wendell Spackmans, Charles Coburns, and the Harold Ohlbers. Elaine's navy silk sheath with a ruffled hemline shouldering a brand new Azurene mink jacket.

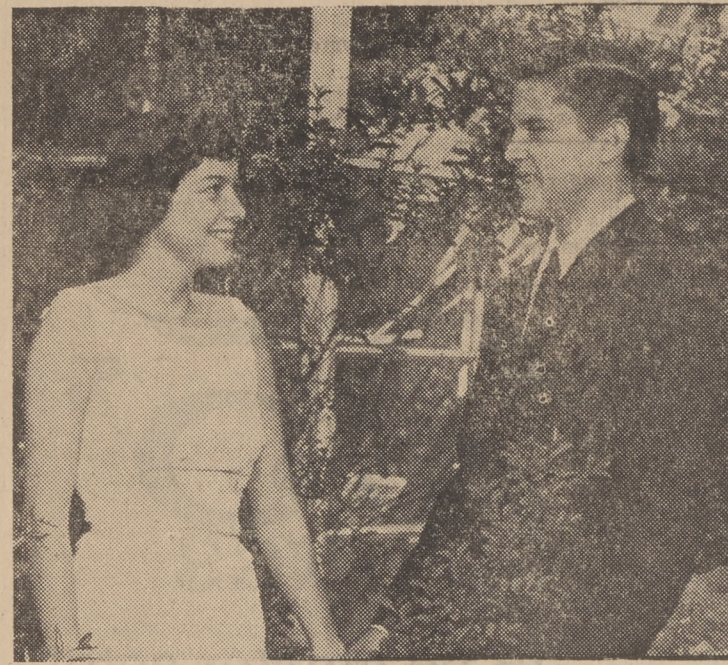

A rainbow of colors in the rhododendrons and azaleas flanking the water pool at whose edge stood a palm thatched native hut. Standing inside here, while the rain thundered down on the hut's roof was a romantic experience and left one feeling quite alone in the crowd. Storm effects of thunder and lightning with accompanying symphonic music made the effect more dramatic. The show were the John Boyens and the Robert Raskobes. Here, too, the Kenneth Courtwrights, Martha shouldering a fresh ginger lei, the Courtwrights with Saturday plans to attend the traditional Picnic Day on the Davis campus where their oldest daughter is at school.

Jack Cooper who has moved to Piedmont Pines from Orinda, carefully making his way through the crowd with a tray of champagne glasses. The Austin Kellys, the Jack Rarigs, Tommy Morans and the Marshall Morans in another preview group.

The Lady in Red was Lillian Nawnman of Orinda whose evening gown was an empire-styled chiffon worn with matching red satin shoes and a mink stole. She and her husband Bob dined early at the Athens Athletic Club with the Phil Kings of Oakland, Audrey King is the daughter of Oakland's Mayor Rishell.

The show continues through next Sunday evening and in tribute to Alaska and Hawaii is out to break all past attendance records.

ENGAGED TO BE MARRIED are Marilee Louis Harrer and Robert Gary Porter. Their betrothal was announced recently at a family dinner party. Marilee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore M. Harrer of Orinda and Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Porter of Piedmont.

Judith Ann Lavinder Plans To Marry Federic Siegrist

Of interest to their many friends throughout the East Bay is the announcement of the betrothal of Miss Judith Ann Lavinder of Lafayette and Federic Neal Siegrist of Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lavinder first announced the news of their daughter's troth at a recent family dinner party at their home at 3082 Diablo View Road. The parents of the future benedict, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Siegrist of 1364 Tomlee Drive, Berkeley, were among those present to herald the glad tidings.

Judy, as the bride-to-be is known, is a graduate of Acalanes High School, and of Oregon State College, where she affiliated with Chi Omega sorority. Her younger sister Susan, she too a Chi Omega, is also studying at Oregon State since her graduation from Pleasant Hill High School.

It is quite natural that the Lavinder sisters should choose Oregon State, their father's alma mater, for their college.

Jewish League Announces Luncheon Date

The seventh annual Donor Luncheon of the League of Jewish Women, Sisterhood of the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center, will be held next Thursday at the new Concord Inn.

Luncheon is scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Norman Daneiko is general chairman for the affair.

Charge for the donor luncheon is $10 for members and $5 for guests.

Tau Omicron Chapter Hears Talk on Art

The members of Tau Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had Mrs. Jackie Mathiesen of Lafayette, a teacher in the Lafayette Art Cooperative Group, as guest speaker for their April meeting.

Mrs. Mathiesen spoke on "Children's Art."

Plans were also made for a progressive dinner for members and their husbands.

The Raymond Ferraris and Robert Burns of Lafayette and the Garner Longs of Moraga opened their homes for the various courses.

Mrs. James Culver was chairman of the dinner.

Garden Scents Bring Back Memories of Days Gone By

To crush a carpet of thyme underfoot and whiff the heady odor that follows is an unforgettable experience.

It rasts in the memory for years — to be recalled whenever and wherever the fragrance of thyme is encountered.

AND ISN'T it the same with other garden smells?

Far more than sight, the never-changing aspects of smell can tell up memories of another day, of a long-forgotten setting. Not only those pungent smells of certain flowers in bloom, but also those many shrubs which like thyme, have scented foliage.

This aspect of gardening has been neglected of late and too bad that it has.

The California Association of Nurserymen reports that few gardeners seek . . . or even seem aware of . . . scented foliage when they shop for shrubs. Yet each and every one of them who can smell must have a store of pleasant memories that one or another crushed leaf might release.

Eucalyptus, for instance, never fails to strike a note with gardeners who grew up in California.

Nor do the various Junipers and Pines which, planted close by a ratio, can be broken occasionally between the fingers and breathed in to heart's content.

HEATHER-LIKE Diosma (or Coleonema), the Breath of Heaven, has an unforgettable odor when crushed. Both common Myrtle and Boxwood impart distinctive scents, as does the fresh foliage of Lemon Verbena; and, of course, the fragrant foliage and flowers of Lavender!

The familiar California Laurel or Bay, which grows so widely in our state, has culinary as well as strictly pleasurable use in the garden. And the same goes, naturally, way you take it, how can you for Mint and Rosemary, both of mis?

Plant Zinnias In Sunny Spot

Here are hints for your garden this week:

1. Zinnias rank among the best summer bedding plants, but be sure they have a warm sunny spot if you want the best results.

2. Yellowing or pale leaves on camellias can usually be greened up with an application or two of iron. Use one of the new iron compounds for fastest absorption by the plant.

3. Caladiums, those fancy leaf little plants, can still be planted from tubers. As with a tuberous begonia, give them a loose rich soil, good drainage and mostly shade.

4. The best show roses come from disbudding. If your aim is size, pinch off all but the terminal bud on each stem.

5. Keep privet hedges full and compact by frequent trimming. Don't wait until trimming leaves woody bare spots.

which grow like weeds.

The quest for scent brings everlasting enjoyment.

You plant not only a shrub that looks nice in the landscape, but a memory that can be referred to whenever the wish arises. Either den. And the same goes, naturally, way you take it, how can you for Mint and Rosemary, both of mis?

Girl Scouts Earn Grooming Badges

Girl Scout Troop 280 will present a play, A Finger in Art, at the Girl Scouts in Action program Saturday at Acalanes High School.

The one act play depicts an exciting afternoon in a girls' boarding school. It will be presented at 3 p.m.

Completing dramatic badge requirements by presenting this play will be Betsy Bailes, Linda Black, Parry Bliesner, Susan Burrian, Augusta DeSimons and Mimi Geffel.

Others will be Nancy MacNeil, Jean Myers, Patsy Reycroft, Nancy Stettis, Jeanne Tomlinson and Suzanne Treat.

Mrs. Roger L. Black will be leader, with Mrs. J. Ted Mitchell as director and Mrs. Richard Bailes as stage manager.

KING

Through January 31, king salmon spawners passing Benbow Dam on the South Fork Eel River totaled 1,468, compared to last year's run of 3,949. Silver salmon also were fewer but the steelhead run showed a sizable increase at Benbow.

DFG The State Division of Highways and Department of Fish and Game co-operated to build a one-pool fishway over a bridge-retraining structure on Hensley Creek, Mendocino County, so that spawning fish could ascend.

Martinez Relays Start Tomorrow

Record Turnout Seen for Running of Track Classic

California's oldest relay meet for prep track and field teams will be tomorrow when Alhambra Union High School conducts its 18th annual Martinez Relays at Alhambra Field.

Originated in 1931, the Martinez classic was the first meet to hold all events with four-man teams competing on a relay basis.

THE MEET was held intermittently until scheduled on an annual basis in 1940.

Cancelled from 1943 through 1946 because of wartime restrictions, the track and field carnival returned to an annual basis in '47 and has attracted record-breaking fields each year.

Last spring's record turnout of 53 schools included 32 in the Class A field, won by Berkeley, and 19 in the Class B group, won by Encinal.

Early indications were that the record would fall, according to

Director Jim Coulter, who expects the final rush of entries to arrive "loaded for trophies."

The Class A field will consist of schools with four-year enrollments of more than 1100 and three-year schools with more than 850 students.

The Martinez Relays serve a two-fold purpose, Coulter observed. The meet enables a larger number of athletes to compete in track and field and emphasizes teamwork, rather than individual competition.

The program for both classes will include the 400-yard high hurdles medley, mile, 440, 480-yard low hurdles, two-mile, 880, pole vault, discus throw, shot put, high jump and broad jump.

The first field events, the Class A and B pole vault, will start at 11:30 a.m. The first track event, the Class A high hurdles, is billed for 12:30 p.m.

Scribe Bats about Second Guessing and Track Meets

By ERWIN MATTSON

The current prep baseball races in the Diablo Valley Leagues find Mt. Diablo High of Concord out in front in the Contra Costa Division while Las Lomas is in the top spot in the Foothill Division.

Both clubs are undefeated to date and both have had close ones, but have come through when the pressure was on and that's what it takes to be in first place.

One of the surprise teams in the Foothill Division has been Miramonte which with Coach Don Foster in the first year at the helm has been coming along in fine style.

Experience has cost the Matadors runs in crucial spots, but no one can take them for granted.

PIEDMONT in their first year of play has come a long way as well. San Ramon has played some good ball to date, but has had that one, big, bad inning that has hurt as far as winning goes.

One thing certain in prep ball is that the coaches have more bleacher aides in proportion to any other sport.

Most people have had considerable association with baseball as a player or spectator and therefore feel well qualified for the great national pastime of second guessing.

It might be well to have a drawing and give some of the bleacher coaches a chance to run a game and let the coaches do the second guessing.

IT WOULD be good for all hands concerned and relieve tension all around.

DAN GLINES, young and popular Acalanes basketball coach, has been offered two college jobs to date.

He turned the first one down and is now in the process of turning the second one over in his mind.

My guess is that he will be back at the Acalanes court next fall where he has the nucleus of a fine club which he will need with the tough schedule ahead.

He'll face the likes of Poly of San Francisco and Stockton High.

ONE OF THE PLAYS that comes up in baseball and is seldom understood by those who don't delve too far into the technicalities of scoring baseball is the difference between a wild pitch and a passed ball.

A ball getting by the catcher is scored as a passed ball when in the judgment of the scorer the catcher is at fault and a wild pitch when the thrower is at fault.

It rests on the judgment of the scorer as does the giving of an error or a hit on a given play.

Incidentally, if you are a track fan head for Martinez tomorrow where the Alhambra Relays will be run.

Every event will be a relay from the shuttle hurdle events to such as the shot and discus.

FOUR CONTESTANTS will represent each school and their total effort will decide the winner.

Thus if each of the four toss the shot 50 feet their score would be 200 and they would place accordingly.

The meet usually finds better than 50 schools taking part and the meet is divided into A and B sections depending on school size.

Trophies are awarded winners in each event as well as for the top team.

It's a three ring circus and a delight to the track fan as well as one of the oldest annual meets in the area.

DIXON FARMER, Miramonte track ace, rips through the tape in 2:01.3 in his 880 effort during the Miramonte, Acalanes, Las Lomas meet at the Lafayette oval last Friday.

HARDTOP HIGHLIGHTS

Overflow Crowd Watches Spectacular Hardtop Flip

Soaring overflow crowd at Contra Costa Speedway was instantly hushed at the sight of Bay Cities Racing Champion Wally Baker's car being flung high into the air in a double flip, then coming to rest on its top.

Baker was attempting to pass Johnny Franklin of Santa Rosa in the semi main event when the incident occurred.

THE BLUE "Number 1" was almost by Franklin in the turn when it's rear wheel ran over Franklin's front wheel. Baker's crash helmet had a deep gash through the center of it, and he was badly shaken up when he was removed from the car. Along with two broken axles, the car's gasoline tank was torn out completely.

Cliff Bennett, in his Paddock Bowl Special, number 22, took first place in the first heat. Cliff, who hails from Pacheco, made the best showing of the evening as far as the local talent was concerned.

Jack Huddleston of Concord placed fourth in the first heat, and Hugh Payne, also of Concord was fourth in the second heat.

"WILD BILL" Rasset of Walnut Creek is at it again! He was in three races, and flipped or smashed into someone at least once in each. Bill, you old smartee, you know how to keep the public's eye. (In case you fans haven't recognized him yet, Bill drives the black Number 45.)

HARDTOP enthusiasts were thrilled to welcome back a real trooper Saturday night. Ted Gratrix, who broke his neck in a racing accident three years ago, made his comeback driving car Number 32. This boy MUST have racing in his blood.

A very large welcome to a new driver from Walnut Creek. . . . Monte Williams, who looked terrific in car 31. Monte has driving ability, and really likes to go! Winners of all the events are as follows: First heat: Cliff Bennett, second heat: Johnny Green, third heat: Carl (Curly) Carr, fourth heat: Bill Hammond, Final heat: Johnny Franklin, Semi Main: Nelson Snow, Main Event: Johnny Franklin, Trophy Dash: Carl Carr.

Tomorrow night should find a rough driving group of pilots fighting to prevent Johnny Franklin from tallying up another main event.

The program will consist of eight exciting events, including a 25 lap main event. Time trials will start at seven, with the first race at 8:15. Don't miss it, it should be another "Grand Slammer."

Drivers Win at Stockton Races

Three central county sportscar drivers made the winners circle in the seventh annual running of the Stockton Lions Club Sports Car races Sunday.

In the 10-lap sixth race, Alfred Whately of Alamo came into the circle with a Class D Porsche. In the Eighth Race, class D for production cars, class and above, John Barneson, Lafayette, took a first place in his Porsche GT.

In the ninth race, a 30-lap modified, all classes senior only, affair, Ray Ingalls of Orinda ran through the traps with his Crosley Special.

Second Victory

Don Ferrarese, an ex Acalanes player, now with the Cleveland Indians, hurled his second win of the season as he set down Kansas City in a game Saturday afternoon in Indian town.

Lomas Fin Men Trounce Oakland In 6th Victory

Paced by double winners Pete MacVean, Jack Strand, Bill Wipple and John Ostrom, the hosting Las Lomas swimming team swept to its sixth victory in seven meets by trouncing Oakland 59-36.

Jack Strand broke his own school record in the 50-free by turning in a winning time of 24.5. "B" swimmer Dick Pomeroy bettered the old record in the 100 breaststroke, swimming the four laps in 1:16.5.

In the "B" competition, the Knights had an easier time of it as Oakland didn't field a full team, winning 60-10. Dual winners were Larry Lang, Dick Pomeroy, Gary Ewell and Mike Herr.

Dixon Farmer; Acalanes Dons Net Davis Wins

The local preps did themselves proud in the annual Cal Aggie Picnic Track meet at the Davis campus Saturday.

Acalanes came away with second place and a trophy in the Class B meet when they ended up 17 1/2 points behind San Mateo who topped the field.

Bob Rime was top point getter as he scored in the 100 yard dash with 10.7 and second in the 220 with 22 flat.

Tim Scott tied for second in the pole vault as he cleared the bar at 11-9 1/2.

The Don quartet consisting of Chris Rinne, Tony La Rosa, Fred Lercari and Bob Rinne won the 880 yard relay with a 1:34 clocking.

Miramonte's Dixon Farmer was in top form as he cracked the 400 yard mark with his second 48.2 race. The old record was 49.1.

Farmer was a two time winner as he copped the board jump at 22-4.

Devils Edge Ram Machine; Dons Take 3-Way Contest

The Diablo Red Devils copped a thriller from the Pleasant Hill Ram varsity track team when broad jumper Dean Deaton moved into first place on his final leap to climax the meet held at Concord last Thursday.

The final score found Mt. Diablo winding up with a 60-53 win.

THE RAMS, up to Deaton's final leap, had a sweep in the broad jump which would have given the Rams a 58-55 win. His leap of 20-4 for the win was well above his previous best of 18-6.

Another thriller was provided in the 100-yard dash which ended in a tie for first.

The Rams Roger Foulk was a two time winner as he copped the shot and discus events.

First place winners and times were as follows:

100-yard dash: tie between Webb (PH) and Trette (MD)—10.5.
220—Jacobsen (PH) 22.9.

Contra Costa is Selected For Nuclear Fallout Tests

Contra Costa will become a test area for mass evacuations, a survey of radiation fallout shelter resources and a study of non-military nuclear defense facilities.

In a press statement issued by Robert A. Alexander, Los Angeles architect, planning and housing consultant to the United Nations, who will conduct the tests, Contra Costa was selected because it could serve in case of nuclear attack at a shelter area where refugees could be fed, housed, clothed and given medical care.

METHODS AND procedures used in the survey will provide a basis for similar surveys in areas throughout the nation.

The architect explained the survey is to carry out a major defense policy that in the event of nuclear attack, fallout shelters offer the best single non-military defense for the protection of the greatest number of people.

Police Improvements to Cost Money -- Nejedly

Improvements are needed in Contra Costa law enforcement agencies, but county residents must pay for them, said district attorney John Nejedly recently at Lafayette Town Hall.

The recommendations came at an open meeting of the Lafayette Improvement Association, where Nejedly was presenting the law enforcement picture to students of Acalanes High School and area residents.

"I suggest that you seriously consider these problems, but know that you have to pay for improvements," said Nejedly.

"WE NOW are saving money only to the extent of our operations," he added.

Among improvements suggested by Nejedly was the creation of a central county morgue.

"We have a serious problem in dealing with investigation of homicides—or any situation in which there is a human death," he said.

Nejedly brought out that the public official involved in such cases is a deputy coroner—whose only qualification for the job often is the fact that he is a mortician.

"THIS IS extremely unfair, both to the mortician and to the people," Nejedly said.

The deputy coroner—or mortician—finds himself concerned not only with investigating circumstances of death, but with comforting the bereaved and arranging a funeral.

"Such a situation makes it possible literally to get away with murder," Nejedly said.

A criminal investigation laboratory also was recommended.

"CURRENTLY we take our work to Oakland, Berkeley or Sacramento," Nejedly said. "This takes time. There is too much delay. Then, too, there is the expense at trial of bringing in witnesses in from the outside laboratory."

We should not only be concerned with convicting the criminal but also with proving innocence, Nejedly pointed out, adding that often people had to be kept in custody indefinitely, not recognizing their rights properly.

The district attorney cited the Burroughs killing in Orinda.

IN ORDER to prove the story of the suspect involved, the suspect had to be kept in custody pending reports from Sacramento in the Burroughs case.

The suspect's story checked out. He was innocent, but still had to be held, Nejedly illustrated.

At that time, the district attorney said, the county had no polygraph. Two men in Walnut Creek could have given the test, but no one was available to all county agencies.

"NOW WE have two operations in this capacity," Nejedly said. "We have examined 28 persons in two months. Even if you look only toward the number we released, it was worth the added expense."

The district attorney's office also nabbed three persons operating criminally in Contra Costa County. A polygraph also was used to establish innocence of two people who otherwise might have had a shadow cast upon them.

There also exists a definite coordination problem between the various county agencies, Nejedly said.

Information should be brought to various operations under rules now being established by the courts, he said. With reference to the rights of the individual, this is something that has been needed a long time.

DIFFERENT localities once handled matters in different manners.

"Now we are coordinating—sitting down, working out standard procedures," said the district attorney.

Contra Costa County now has, for instance, a standard 502, or drunk driving, procedure.

Recommended also was addition of another deputy to work

The meeting also was informed of a bill now on the governor's desk to prohibit district attorneys from engaging in private practice. THIS WAS a campaign issue in Nejedly's election.

"More police work—and better protection—costs more money,"
